

ADMINISTRATIVE CODES AND REGISTERS SECTION
2010 WINTER MEETING

JW Marriott Hotel
Washington, DC

January 29-February 1, 2010

ACR SPEAKERS

Aris Bearse

Aris Bearse is a senior legislative analyst with the Virginia Joint Legislative Audit and Review Commission (JLARC). Aris has been with JLARC since 1999 and has led or participated in numerous studies on various aspects of Virginia state policy, including higher education, transportation, health care, information technology, homeland security, and general governance. Prior to working at JLARC, Aris worked at the State Council of Higher Education for Virginia as a research coordinator for academic affairs. He received a B.A. in economics and an M.P.P. in public policy from the College of William and Mary. When not working or taking care of his one-year-old daughter, he enjoys soccer, bowling, disc golf, and playing the Wii.

Gregory A. Brown

Gregory A. Brown is the Senior Director of Strategic Development at DataStream Content Solutions (DSCS). Having joined DSCS in 2006, Greg is responsible for strategic planning, acquisitions, alliances, sales and marketing. Greg left the practice of law to enter the information market in 1988 and has remained in and around the information industry ever since. Having served in roles including product development, and product management he has built a passion for applying technological innovation to real world needs while providing impeccable service to clients and increasing corporate growth and profitability.

Greg enjoys music, running, reading, technology and playing sports with his son. In his spare time, Greg is the President, and founder, of the Eden Prairie Track and Field Association which introduces track and field to elementary age children. Having been grown up in Minnesota, he finds nothing wrong with a little cold or snow.

Jodi Cramer

Jodi Cramer, Program Manager for FEMA's Office of Chief Counsel's IT projects.

Jodi currently the legal advisor to FEMA's Social Media program as well as FEMA's Web Governance Committee and will also participate in our social media policy panel and present the issues she has encountered and a legal perspective on developing social media policies.

Andrea Budzinsky Garvey

Andrea is a DC and Virginia barred attorney who took over as Director of the DC Office of Documents and Administrative Issuances in May of 2008.

Before joining the ODAI team, she practiced Criminal and Domestic law at a small firm in Virginia, attended the Marine Corps Officer Candidate School in Quantico, Virginia and was a Legislative Aid to United States Senator Christopher Bond. She and her husband Patrick were married last year in Washington, D.C. and are expecting their first addition to the Garvey clan in April 2009.

Amy Bunk

Ms. Bunk is the Director of Legal Affairs and Policy for the Office of the Federal Register. Prior to taking this position, Amy worked in the Office of Regulations and Administrative Law, Office of the Judge Advocate General, United States Coast Guard from November 2005 until October of 2007. While at the Coast Guard, she has worked closely on a number of high visibility merchant mariner rulemaking projects. She was highly praised for her support of Ninth District field regulations involving weapons training areas. Before her job at the Coast Guard, Amy worked as an Attorney-Advisor for the National Archives and Records Administration's Office of the Federal Register. She received her JD cum laude from Syracuse University College of Law and is a member of the Justinian Honorary Law Society. Amy is admitted to practice in New York.

Kevin Fetherston

Kevin Fetherston is the Director of Reference Services for BNA's Environment, Health, and Safety Division and managing editor of Environment and Safety Library—BNA's largest reference product on the Web—and a number of proprietary analytical and compliance services published by BNA. These services include Air Pollution Control Guide, Environment & Safety Compliance Calendar, Environment Library on DVD, Environmental Compliance Bulletin, Environmental Due Diligence Guide, Right-To-Know Planning Guide, Safety Guide, Spill Reporting Procedures Guide, Waste Management Guide, and Water Pollution Control Guide.

Kevin joined BNA in 1987 as the Senior Environmental Analyst in BNA PLUS, the custom research and document retrieval division of BNA, and was promoted to manager of the Custom Research and Monitoring unit in 1993. During his tenure with BNA PLUS, he created three BNA services: Environment & Safety Compliance Calendar, Federal Environment & Safety Regulatory Monitoring Report, and State Environment & Safety Regulatory Monitoring Report. Kevin moved to BNA's Environment and Safety Division in 1996, where he assumed management responsibility for state information appearing in all environment and safety products. He became managing editor of ESLW and eight other compliance publications in 1999. In 2009, he was named director of all BNA EHS reference services, which include the full text of federal and state laws and regulations as well as compliance information and analysis services.

Kevin holds a bachelor's degree with high honors in economics from the University of California at San Diego. He also has a Master's degree in international economics from the Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies in Washington, D.C. A native of California, Kevin currently resides in Arlington, Va.

Mark Kozeal

Mark Kozeal is the Director of EHS Marketing for BNA's Environment, Health & Safety Division. BNA is an employee owned legal and regulatory publishing company located in Arlington, VA. Mark has over 15 years of marketing experience for the legal and regulatory segment of the EHS market.

Prior to joining BNA Mark worked on a publishing contract for the Department of Health and Human Services, and was a legislative correspondent for a member of the U.S. House of Representatives.

Mark holds a Bachelor of Arts Degree from St. Meinrad College in St. Meinrad, Ind. He has also pursued graduate studies at Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C.

Jeffrey S. Lubbers

Jeffrey S. Lubbers was appointed Professor of the Practice in Administrative Law at American University's Washington College of Law in 2009, after being a Fellow in Law and Government since 1996. He teaches courses in Administrative Law, Environmental Law, Federal Legal Institutions, and ADR. He has also taught at the University of Miami School of Law, Washington and Lee University School of Law, the Georgetown University Law Center, Melbourne University, Ritsumeikan University Law School in Japan, the University of Ottawa, and The Australian National University. He has an A.B. degree from Cornell University and a J.D. from the University of Chicago Law School and is a member of the bars of the State of Maryland and the District of Columbia.

Prior to joining American University, he served in various positions with the Administrative Conference of the United States (ACUS), the U.S. Government's "permanent" advisory agency on procedural improvements in federal programs until its closure by the 104th Congress in 1995. From 1982-1995 he was ACUS' Research Director—a position in the Senior Executive Service. In this position, he developed ideas for new studies, hired outside consultants (mostly law professors) to conduct the studies, reviewed reports, supervised staff attorneys and assisted ACUS committees in developing recommendations from the studies on a wide variety of administrative law subjects. He worked with Congressional committees and agencies to seek implementation of ACUS recommendations, and served as Team Leader for Vice President Gore's National Performance Review team on Improving Regulatory Systems in 1993. He co-authored ACUS' major 1992 study, The Federal Administrative Judiciary and was a contributing author of the first edition of the Guide to Federal Agency Rulemaking. In 2006 he authored an updated fourth edition of the latter Guide, published by the American Bar Association. He has also co-authored the Administrative Procedure Sourcebook (3d. ed, 2000), and serves as the editor for the American Bar Association's Developments in Administrative Law and Regulatory Practice (volumes from 1998-2008).

He has published numerous articles on the administrative process, participated frequently in training programs for government officials in the US and overseas, and has won several prestigious honors for his work in administrative law including a Presidential Rank of Meritorious Executive, the "Mary C. Lawton Award for Outstanding Government Service" from the American Bar Association, and the "Walter Gellhorn Award" from the Federal Bar Association.

In addition to his teaching, he has served as a consultant to various federal agencies, the ABA, the World Bank (on administrative law reform in Latvia), the USAID (on administrative reform in Georgia), the Office of Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) (on administrative simplification and regulatory burden reduction), and Yale Law School's China Law Center.

Ray Mosley

Office of the Federal Register National Archives and Records Administration

Ray Mosley has served as Director of the Federal Register since 1996. This year, he is completing his 41st year with the National Archives, including 21 years as a member of the Senior Executive Service.

John Shea

Mr. Shea joined FEMA External Affairs in 1999. Since then, he has fielded multiple positions within FEMA headquarters, Region 9 and many field operations. Shea was officially named the Public Information Officer for New Media in June 2008. He developed the strategies and SOPs of FEMA's social media / new media efforts to integrate existing and future communications needs the agency encounters for preparedness, response, recover and mitigation messaging. The core principles of community driven-communications and customer service have been instilled in the practices and products FEMA is developing for the social media environment. Mr. Shea graduated from the University of Maryland, College Park, with a degree in print journalism. While at university, he had the opportunity to intern for DigitalInk, an early venture of the Washington Post online.

Michael L. White

Office of the Federal Register National Archives and Records Administration

Michael White is the Managing Editor of the Federal Register. Mike began working at the OFR in 1987 as an attorney, serving as Director of Legal Affairs from 1996 to 2007.

He has worked on many projects, including:

- Creating requirements for electronic documents and digital authentication.
- Preparing OFR for national emergencies.
- Developing Regulations.gov as a member of the e-Rulemaking Advisory Board.

- Leading OFR's transition to GPO's new XML-based Federal Digital System (FDsys).
- Managing the "Federal Register 2.0" project for Data.gov.

He received his B.A. from the University of Virginia in 1978, and J.D. from William and Mary in 1982. He lives in Falls Church, VA with his wife Susan and their Labrador retriever, "Duke."

Julie Yamaka

Julie has managed the Publications Unit of the Archives Division of the Oregon Secretary of State since 1997. The Publications Unit is charged with filing and publishing the Oregon Administrative Rules, and compiling and publishing the Oregon Blue Book. She has worked for the Oregon Secretary of State since 1990.

She is currently serving as President of the Administrative Codes and Registers (ACR) section of the National Association of Secretaries of State, and has been a member of ACR since 1998. She served as the ACR Pacific West regional representative from 2000 to 2004, and was the 2002 Summer Conference Chair in Providence, Rhode Island. She was ACR Secretary/Treasurer from 2004 to 2006 and Vice President from 2006 to 2008.

Julie holds a Bachelor of Arts Degree in German Language from the University of Oregon. She and her husband Dave live in Salem and have two grown children, Stephanie and Kevin.