

The Office of the Chief Information Officer (OCIO) is a department of the State of Iowa, <https://iowa.gov>;

The purpose of this site is to present technology matters and online state services of public interest to the citizens of Iowa. We encourage you to submit comments, but please note that this is not a public forum.

Following or “friending” persons or organizations is not an endorsement by the State and is only intended as a means of communication. All content of this site and all comments submitted to this page and its list of fans are public and are subject to disclosure pursuant to the Iowa Code Chapter 22. Public information requests must be directed to the department’s public information officer.

While we try to respond to questions on Twitter as much as possible, if you have a question, concern or comment, you may still want to contact the OCIO by another method – <https://ocio.iowa.gov/about-us/contact-us> (especially if what you have to say requires more than 140 characters!).

Also note that this site is governed by Twitter’s separate website policies, including its Privacy Policy and Terms of Service. These policies apply to your use of Twitter

Comments posted to this page will be monitored. The OCIO reserves the right to delete comments that: contain false information, obscene language or sexual content, threaten or defame any person or organization, support or oppose political candidates, political organizations or ballot propositions, promote illegal activity, commercial services or products, infringe on copyrights or trademarks or are not topically related to the particular posting.

This site is maintained and moderated by OCIO staff to ensure that posted comments are constructive and suitable for all readers while respecting a range of opinions and points of view. Moderation will take place during the State’s normal business hours. Posted comments must comply with the following regulations:

Personal Conduct

- Comments must be civil and may not contain slanderous, libelous, malicious, offensive, threatening, profane, or insulting language.
- References to the personality of individuals or personal attacks will not be permitted.
- Comments must be within the scope of the topic under discussion. Repetitive or duplicate posts will be removed to maintain equity and ease of use for others.
- Comments containing links to other web sites or pages must be relevant to the topic.
- Comments cannot represent a person other than the one posting the comment.
- Participants are responsible for what they post. Comments must not breach any law, confidentiality, or copyright.

Topic Guidelines

- As a state information resource, the OCIO social media sites are politically neutral and therefore does not allow petitions, endorsements, advocacy or other political messages to be published in this space.
- Advertising or promotional announcements are not permitted.
- Comments cannot include personally identifiable information, such as an address, phone number, social security number or other sensitive information.

Anyone posting comments contrary to this Terms of Use policy may be prohibited from future participation. The Office of the Chief Information Officer reserves the right to update these Terms of Use.

Records Retention and Public Information.

OCIO automatically collects and stores all content that you post on this social media site. The OCIO is required to comply with Iowa Code Chapter 22 (The Iowa Open Records Act) and all information posted on this social media site is subject to public disclosure under state and federal open records laws. For more information, please see the information located under “Public Examination, Copying, and Disclosure of Information Collected Through This Social Media Site” below.

This information may also be shared with other state agencies for governmental purposes, including improving state government services. The information is not collected for commercial marketing purposes and the Iowa DOT does not sell or distribute the information collected from this social media site for commercial marketing purposes.

Disclaimer

The OCIO does not warrant or make representations or endorsements as to the quality, content, suitability, accuracy or completeness of the information, text, graphics, links and other items contained on this server. Such materials have been compiled from a variety of sources, and are subject to change without notice from the OCIO. Except to the extent required by law, commercial use of the materials is prohibited without the written permission of the OCIO..

Some of the links on this page and subsequent pages may lead to resources outside the OCIO and State government. The presence of these links should not be construed as an endorsement by the OCIO of these sites or their content. The OCIO is not responsible for the content of any such external link. The OCIO specifically disclaims any and all liability for any claims or damages that may result from providing the OCIO website or information it contains, including any websites maintained by third parties and linked to the OCIO website. The responsibility for content rests with the third party organizations who are providing the information.

For future integration:

Photo Policy

The Office of the Chief Information Officer encourages the sharing of photos on Facebook through the site's existing social sharing features. The City also encourages residents to upload their own photos to the City's Facebook page to help showcase what is happening in our community.

The City of Ankeny does NOT permit the reproduction or redistribution of photos (in partial or whole) from its Facebook page for resale, commercial, educational or promotional use